

No one in the world cared about him except for his Mama.

His wise Mama told him to be patient and wait until he grows up. He might get some spots when he is older. She also said that it does not matter to look different.

